The Alliance to End Human Trafficking is a faith-based national network that educates, supports survivor services, and advocates to end human trafficking.

We inform the public, protect human dignity, and help survivors live fulfilling lives.

We Envision a World Without Human Trafficking

Human trafficking happens in cities, rural areas, and online. Over 50 million people are trafficked worldwide, with traffickers making billions off their exploitation. People are not commodities and should never be bought or sold. Human trafficking is modern-day slavery, and it must end.

Ending human trafficking is our vision, but it requires everyone's effort. Whether through prayer, education, advocacy, survivor services, or financial support, your involvement makes a difference.

We invite everyone—people of all faiths, ages, and backgrounds—to join us in the urgent work of ending human trafficking.

Resources we offer on our website:

→ Education

Access videos, podcasts, reflection guides, our monthly Stop Trafficking newsletter, curriculum materials, reports, and more!

→ Survivor Services

Find survivor stories, videos, books, and ways to support survivors through scholarships, job placement, and purchases of slave-free products.

→ Advocacy

Join a current campaign, find and engage your elected officials in supporting anti-trafficking legislation, and write a letter or an op-ed to the editor.

→ Faith Resources

Find prayer services, monthly reflections, bulletin inserts, Catholic Social Teaching, and Pastoral Orientations on Human Trafficking.

Human trafficking is driven by a web of social injustice and apathy.
